

Crandon Public Library FISCAL POLICY

Fiscal Authority

Section 43.58 of the Wisconsin Statutes grants the Crandon Public Library Board of Trustees exclusive control of the expenditure of all monies collected, donated, or appropriated for the library. The Board of Trustees approves the library's annual budget and delegates the responsibility for the management of the library's money to the Library Director according to this policy.

Accounting Practices

In order to comply with Federal and State laws, especially in the area of auditing, the City of Crandon keeps the official accounting records of the library. The library also utilizes accounting software for the purpose of generating reports and information for decision making by the Board of Trustees. The library's accounting records are used for more finely detailed reports than the City's books are generally able to provide. If there is a difference in the two recordkeeping systems, the records kept by the City of Crandon would prevail.

The fiscal year of the library (and the City of Crandon) is the calendar year.

City of Crandon Library Fund

The City of Crandon accounts for the library's financial transactions through a City of Crandon Library Fund. The city keeps physical possession of money the library receives from general property taxes, reciprocal borrowing agreements, and fines and fees, in this fund. This fund is created specifically for the day-to-day operations of the Crandon Public Library.

Cash receipts from fines and fees are deposited into the Crandon Public Library Board of Trustees checking account on a monthly basis, with transfers made to the City of Crandon Library Fund, on a quarterly basis.

Expenditures from the Revenue Library Fund

In accordance with state law, the City of Crandon acts as the fiscal agent for the Crandon Public Library fund. Monthly, the Library Director prepares and presents to the library's Board of Trustees a list of invoices, to be paid by check for approval. After approval, the library forwards invoices from its vendors, along with a voucher form bearing the Library Director's approval, to the city and the city cuts the check for payment.

The Library Director reports monthly to the Board of Trustees on the year-to-date status of revenues and expenditures in the City of Crandon Library Fund.
